

How are we doing in Wales?

Public Engagement Survey on Health and Wellbeing during Coronavirus Measures

Week 44 (1st to 7th February 2021)

World Health Organization Collaborating Centre on Investment for Health and Wellbeing, Public Health Wales

Public Health Wales are conducting a public engagement telephone survey to ask members of the public in Wales how coronavirus and related control measures are affecting their health and wellbeing.

The survey interviews approximately 600 randomly selected individuals every other week. The information collected provides the basis of the results presented in these bi-weekly reports. Survey data are adjusted to represent the Welsh population by age, sex and deprivation.* For some questions, equivalent numbers of adults (aged 18 years and over) in the Welsh population are presented alongside adjusted proportions.[#]

The survey includes a set of routine questions asked each survey week, with other questions changing depending on emerging issues. This week's survey included new questions on people's perceptions of future coronavirus restrictions and whether people had been living more or less climate-friendly lifestyles since the coronavirus situation started.

We thank the people of Wales for giving us their valuable time to support this work.

Key findings from this week

603 Welsh residents aged 18 years and over were interviewed in week 44 of the survey (1st to 7th February 2021).

Vaccination

If you were offered a coronavirus vaccination...

Would you personally want to be vaccinated?

*Already received a coronavirus vaccination.

For those with children in the household:

Would you want your children to be vaccinated?

Limited to those with children living in the household; excluding those responding 'not applicable'; unweighted data.

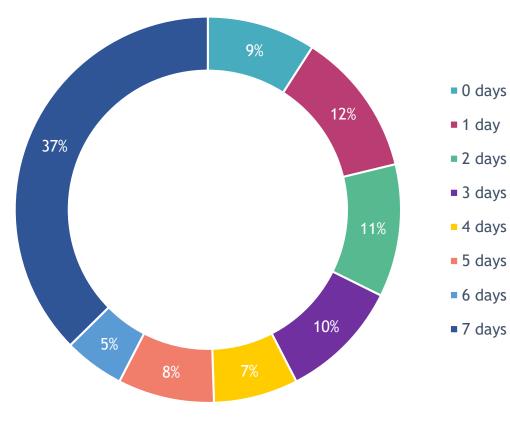

Those responding 'no' or 'unsure' to personally wanting to be vaccinated were asked an open ended question about their reason for this response.

The most common reasons given were related to a lack of trust in the vaccines due to the speed of their development and unknown side effects. Other reasons included: not feeling a need to be vaccinated due to perceived low risk; perceiving low benefit from vaccination; having insufficient information on the vaccines; having existing health conditions such as allergies; having had bad reactions to vaccines in the past; concern about impacts on fertility; having heard about adverse reactions to the vaccines; and not agreeing with vaccinations in general.
